OPERATIONS ON THE GREAT DAM

HAYES BROTHERS BIG RAMPART READY FOR BUSINESS.

AT BELLEFOURCHE, S. DAK.

Owl Creek Fill Completed Without a Single Accident—Finishing Work Will Take a Year.

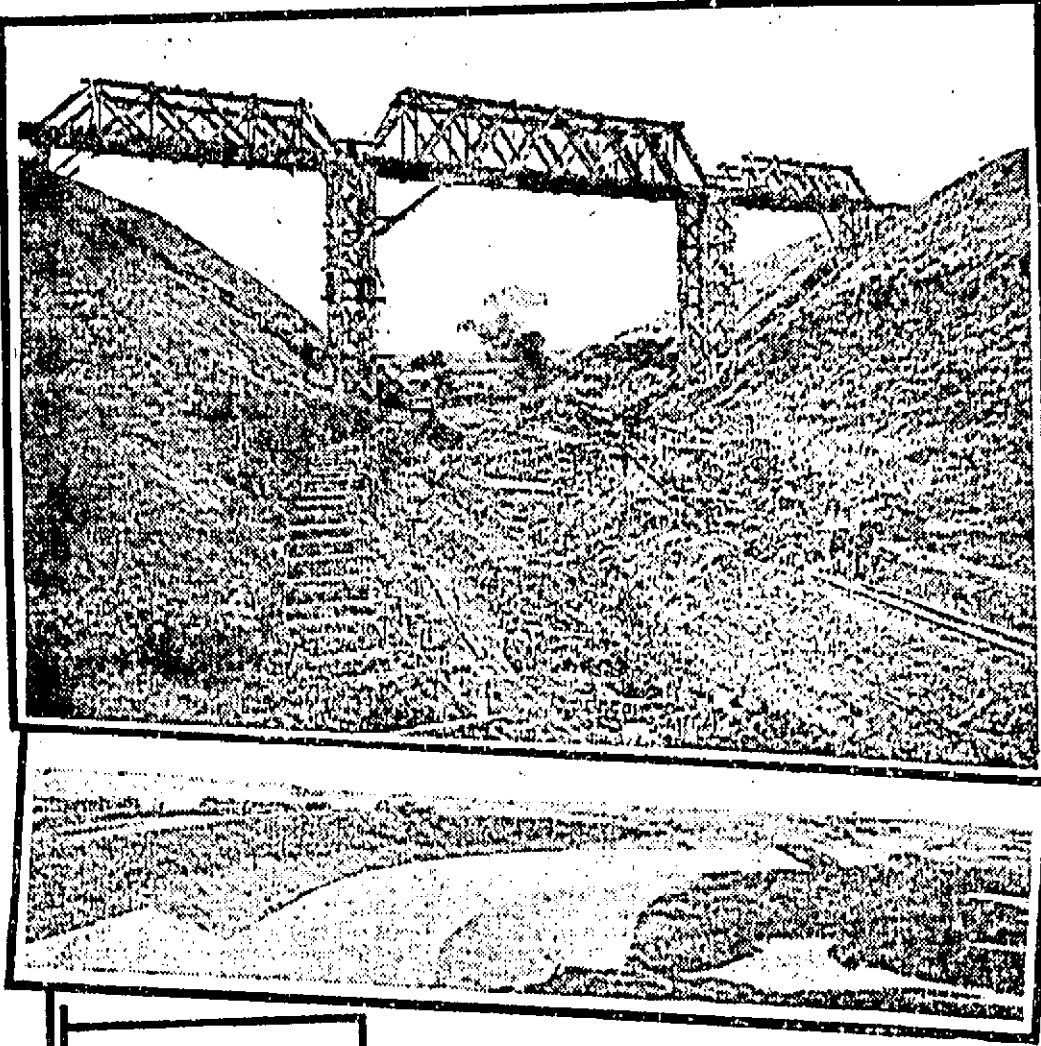

With the recent completion of the work of filling in the Owl Creek runway, the government's great $2,500,000 irrigation dam near Bellefourche, South Dakota, became an unbroken rampart of earth and cement, 6,500 feet long, 115 feet high at the central points and capable of bounding in an artificial lake seven miles square and 90 feet in depth. The storage reservoir will irrigate next season some 100,000 acres of land and eventually it will reclaim an area of from 150,000 to 200,000 acres.

Hayes Brothers & Peters, the Janesville, Wis., contracting firm that built the Chicago drainage canal power plant at Lockport and took over this undertaking in March, 1903, found the Owl creek the most dangerous and difficult of all the problems that confronted them.

This stream, a branch of the Cheyenne, runs 1,000 feet of water a second under ordinary conditions and in times of heavy rainfall the frothing plough deep and wide through the gumbo soil. It was necessary at the very outset to build a dike capable of carrying 6,000 feet of water a second, but even that would not have taken care of the creek in a time of flood. The danger of some such untoward filling was commenced 165 feet from the 5th day of August, when the work of filling was commenced 165 feet below the temporary bridge; until the gap was closed on October 27, the government required that a photograph be taken each day and forwarded to Washington, as well as a telegram detailing the exact status of the operations.

The creek had to be excavated to bed rock. It was necessary to put in three cross trenches and the back filling for quite a distance up had to be tamped by hand under the strictest government scrutiny. After that the filling had to be moistened and spread and rolled in six-inch layers. As it was necessary to go 1,500 feet beyond the end of the dam to get the greater part of the material, the average haul for steam shovels was about 4,500 feet. Three hundred men worked with 300 head of horses and mules, eight locomotives and 80 cars, three graders and two steam shovels, and not a man was injured during the entire operation. Chief Engineer Davis, representing the government, has characterized this fill as the boldest piece of work of the kind ever carried out by the United States government.

Over six hundred feet wide at its base and 25 feet high at its apex, the great dam runs north and south and the western slope will eventually be completely armored against wave wash by a solid face of 5 1/2 by 6 1/2 foot concrete blocks, weighing 3,000 pounds each and laid on a strata of gravel two feet deep. The lower edge of this face of blocks rests against a concrete wall which has been reinforced by piling with 24-inch centers, driven 10 feet into the earth. Before being put in place every one of these blocks will have been watered and "cured" for 30 days.

For times of emergency an immense concrete spillway has been built through the northerly end of the rampart at a cost of $100,000. It will debouch into the old bed of Owl creek, a mile below the dam. For irrigation purposes, there are two large conduits one at each end, with gates which open from the top. The Bellefourche river will be relied upon to furnish most of the water for the great basin. Eight miles above the big wall are located the controlling works and diversion dam, with its gates which will be capable of turning the stream away from the basin on a moment's notice.

It is one of the largest irrigation projects that has been undertaken by the government, and there is still about one year's work to be done.

MUCH BUSINESS FOR TAFT TO ATTEND TO

President Will Devote Entire Time Next Week To Finishing Up Work That Has Accumulated.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 20.—For the first time since he left Washington for his summer vacation, the President is to work a solid week to devote to the work of clearing his desk of the business that accumulated during his long absence. So far as his present plans are concerned he will remain in Washington from now until the meeting of Congress and will devote much of his time to the completion of the message to be presented to that body early next month. The only break in the routine of work will come next Thursday, when a Thanksgiving reunion of the President's family will be held at the White House.

Patrons are interested in the outcome of the special election to be held in Chicago Tuesday to fill the vacancy in the Sixth congressional district caused by the promotion of William L. Dwyer to the Senate. Three candidates, a democrat, a republican and an independent republican, are in the race. The campaign has assumed a national aspect from the fact that the tariff question was made the issue of the contest.

At the annual meeting of the National Civic Federation in New York the questions of compensation for victims of industrial accidents, employers' voluntary sick and death funds and old age pensions will be discussed by foreign authorities on these subjects and American business men. Senator Root will be one of the speakers on the topic of old age pensions. Among others who will take part in the discussions are A. H. Gill and J. H. Clynnes, labor members of the English Parliament; Franklin MacVeagh, Secretary of the Treasury; John Hay, Hammond, Andrew Carnegie, George H. Cortelyou and Samuel Gompers.

An event of interest to society will be the wedding in Washington of Miss Yule E. Noble, daughter of the late William Noble Noble and Lieut. Sherran Noble, U. S. A., son of Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles. The ceremony will take place at St. John's church and will be given added brilliancy by the presence of many prominent army officers.

Wednesday is the day fixed for the formal inauguration of W. Cameron Forbes as governor general of the Philippines. Mr. Forbes was recently chosen to succeed Governor General James F. Smith.

The budget controversy, which has kept England in a political turmoil for several months and has even threatened the existence of the present government, will come to a head Monday, when the debate on the second reading, which will determine the fate of the bill, will begin in the House of Lords.

A general election will be held in British Columbia as a culmination of one of the most exciting political campaigns ever witnessed in that Province. The chief issue of the contest has to do with the government's policy in regard to railways, their construction, extension and subsidy.

Why Not Show It?
Many a young man would give his week's wages to feel his father's arm thrown over his shoulder once in a while, and hear him say: "Well, my boy, how goes it today?" Oh, we are too sparing of our cordialities, too much afraid of being thought demonstrative or gushing. For our part, we had rather people would gush a little than let their love or kind feelings just drip, like icicles under compulsion of a winter sun. How much happier we should all be if we thought more about making others happy! "Let your light shine," yes—but also let your heart be felt.—Christian Herald.

ALARM FELT FOR ASTOR'S BOAT.

Fearful West Indian Hurricane May Have Wrecked Yacht.

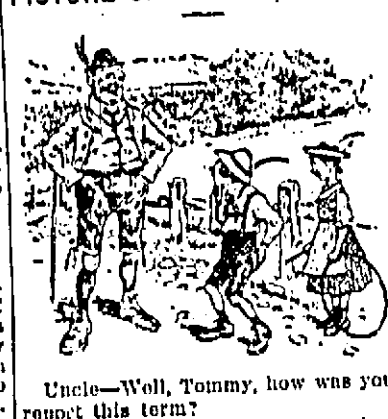

New York, Nov. 20.—The passenger steamship Maracabo of the Red D line, nearly three days overdue at this port from the West Indies, arrived last night after encountering terrific weather, which necessitated the continual use of oil to keep the vessel under control. The Maracabo brought no tidings of Col. John Jacob Astor's missing yacht Nourmahal, which has not been spoken for two weeks.

New York, Nov. 20.—Every added hour of uncertainty deepens the anxiety felt for Col. John Jacob Astor, his son Vincent, and Richard Peters, a cousin of Mrs. Astor, all of whom have now been out of touch with the world for a fortnight, when word from the missing yacht Nourmahal was last received.

Shipping masters point out that if the Nourmahal was blown out of her course by the late West Indian hurricane she might have great difficulty in making port again, as her cruising radius, like that of all yachts, is comparatively small, and would soon be exhausted in fighting head winds.

Hope for her safety rests in the assumption that she is now in port, but that, owing to the interruption of the cable service, it is impossible to get word of her arrival to America. The Nourmahal has no wireless apparatus, and, falling asleep from West Indian ports, news of her must come from some ship that has sighted her.

CRUEL MOTHER TAKEN TO TASK BY JUDGE

Cannot Whip Her Six-year-old Boy Any More—His Teacher Do It When Necessary.

(Special to this Gazette.)

Appleton, Wis., Nov. 20.—Depriving the mother, Mrs. Mary Baruth of the right to whip her little six-year-old boy, under penalty of a 30-days' sentence to the county jail, and according that privilege to the lad's kindergarten teacher, is in effect the disposition made by Judge Ryan of municipal court of the case yesterday of Miss Meta Neubacker of Waukegan, against Mrs. Baruth, the latter being accused of cruelly beating her little son. The woman was arraigned before Judge Ryan, admitted that the scars and bruises on the boy's body were inflicted by her, and was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail. Sentence was suspended, however, with the understanding that in the future Miss Neubacker and not the mother is to punish the child for infractions he might commit. Miss Neubacker, who has taught the child for some time, declared him to be a model boy. Judge Ryan, before suspending sentence, severely rebuked the mother.

Article of incorporation of the Philharmonic Society of Appleton were filed yesterday with the secretary of state. The charter membership of the society numbers 57. The officers are: President, George W. Schmidt; vice president, Dr. C. E. Schmidt; secretary and treasurer, William W. Houston. The society will prepare a number of light operas and next spring will possibly visit the larger cities in eastern Wisconsin.

Assemblyman Fred Peterson of this city, one of the most extensive cattle buyers in this part of Wisconsin, yesterday shipped two carloads of hogs to Chicago, the combined shipment being valued at $2,700. It is believed that these two are among the highest priced carloads of hogs ever shipped out of Wisconsin.

LEADS WOMEN SUFFRAGISTS.
Rev. Anna Howard Shaw.

New York, Nov. 18.—Rev. Anna Howard Shaw is rapidly becoming recognized as one of the greatest leaders of the suffrage movement. She is not so well known as Mrs. Belmont and others whose prominence in the work is largely due to their wealth and social position. Rev. Shaw is known chiefly for her ability to place the cause of suffrage in its best light and for her unwavering loyalty to the movement. At the recent meeting at Carnegie hall, Rev. Shaw was the speaker of the evening. Editors from practically all the newspapers and residents of various women's clubs sat on the platform. Nearly all the "sex" seats for the meeting were taken by private individuals and organizations, among which were the following:

National Council of Jewish Women.
Equally League of Self-Supporting Women.
New Jersey Equal Suffrage Association.
New York State Woman Suffrage Association.
The Greater New York Woman Suffrage Council.
Connell University alumnae.
Baltimore Woman Suffrage League.
College of New York state.
Suffrage League of New York state.
William Lloyd Garrison club.
Jryn Mavr College alumnae.
University of Minnesota.
Jeanne D'Arc Suffrage Club.
National Progressive Woman Suffrage Union.

ERNEST P. DICKNELL

Washington.—Ernest P. Dicknell, director of the American National Red Cross, who has been sent to Cherry, Ill., to give assistance to the "cross" men in that great city, disaster here, became connected with the Red Cross work in June, 1908, after having been for 10 years general superintendent of the Chicago bureau of charities. He is nationally known as an administrator of relief work on a large scale. Before going to Chicago he was for several years secretary of the board of state charities of Indiana. At the time of the San Francisco earthquake he represented the Chicago bureau of charities in the stricken city, doing effective work.

Plan Return to Old Fashions.

Venetian women have formed a league for the purpose of introducing once more the fashions of the renaissance period. Signora Rosa Genoni, the novelist, who is at the head of the movement, appeals to the spirit of independence and patriotism of her countrywomen to discard obnoxious Paris modes and to adopt the national dress worn by their illustrious ancestors. She has won over a considerable number of women to the cause, and the men of Venice are giving a warm support to the new league.

POSTUM

Has brought them Sound Sleep, Steady Nerves, Good Digestion, Clear Brains, Strong Hearts, Comfort and Health.

Why?

Coffee certainly does destroy the soft gray filling in the nerve centres and brain.

When that goes far enough you feel it—

Nervousness, heart trouble, sleeplessness, headache, indigestion, or some form of ailment caused by a shattered nervous system.

Keep at the coffee until you prove it.

Then if you value comfort from sturdy health on properly built nerve cells quit coffee and take on POSTUM.

Then you quickly begin the rebuilding and no one need tell you.

YOU KNOW IT.

The elements are in Postum that Nature demands.

COFFEE THE CAUSE

Of Various Ailments.

It does not require a scientist to discover that coffee is harmful. Plain common sense and the simple habit of looking for the cause of things, soon reveal coffee in its true light—that of a habit-forming drug.

"My family on both sides were confirmed coffee takers," writes a Pennsylvanian, "and we suffered from nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, dizziness and palpitation of the heart."

"Medical treatment never seemed to do any permanent good. I thought there must be some cause for these troubles and yet did not find it was coffee until I was forty-one."

"Hearing of the benefit that many had derived from changing to Postum, I quit coffee and used Postum entirely. Now I am like a new man."

"I sleep well, am eat three good meals a day, have no headache, no palpitation, no nerve twitching in my face, and I don't have to pay out hard-earned money for medicines."

"That's my experience, anyway." Read "The Road to Wellville" in pages. "There's a Reason."

PLOT IS BARED TO KILL TOBACCO KINGS

Duke, Lorillard, Belmont and Others Are Threatened in Barcelona Letters.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Through a series of mysterious letters sent to several stock exchanges of the country bearing Barcelona, Spain, dates, a plot to assassinate a number of well-known American financiers was brought to light.

Members of the Chicago stock exchange are reticent regarding the matter. The American men of finance, to whose funeral various members of the stock exchange were invited in the black bordered letters, are James H. Duke, the head of the tobacco trust; John H. Cobb, C. C. Dale, Pierre Lorillard, George Arons, August Belmont, Thomas F. Ryan and John W. Gates. All of the men have been interested to a more or less degree in the tobacco business.

At first it was thought the letters were from some fanatic, but their content and their viciousness caused them to be considered serious enough to warrant an investigation by the board of directors of the stock exchange.

Barcelona has been the hotbed of anarchy for years. It is believed by stock exchange members that some society of anarchists in the Spanish city decreed the death of the American capitalists, and issued the "funeral invitations" as a warning of the tragedies to follow.

Others were positive that the letters came from the antiquity tobacco growers of Kentucky, and were sent with the intention of frightening the big tobacco buyers and manufacturers.

Members of the Chicago stock exchange, however, believe that the matter is more serious than at first supposed, and are starting the investigation with the expectation of blocking any alleged assassination plans. The New York stock exchange and those of other cities will be asked for assistance in the running down of the senders of the mysterious letters.

REFUSES TO JOIN WIRE MERGER.

Postal President Ascerts Company Will Remain Independent.

New York, Nov. 20.—Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Mackay companies, including the Postal Telegraph Company, issued the following statement:

"We have had nothing to do, either directly or indirectly, with the combination of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company with the Western Union Telegraph Company. We have not wished to join it and have not been invited to join it. There have been no negotiations whatsoever with us in regard to the matter, and there is every reason why we should not have had anything to do with it. We knew nothing about it until the day when it was publicly announced."

Authoritative announcement was made by officials of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company that there will be no change in the official personnel of the Western Union Telegraph Company by reason of the transfer of control of that company to the American Company.

Extending Wireless Telegraphy.

The latest innovation in wireless telegraphy is the construction of an underground station in Paris. It is being erected in the Champ de Mars and will probably be open for use next month. The station will be fitted up on the latest approved lines and comprise a machine room, a transmitting pole and accommodation for the officials. By the introduction of a 100-horsepower engine it is hoped that messages may be exchanged with places about 5,000 miles distant. The result of the experiment will be awaited with much interest.

Phonographic Safe.

A safe lock has been invented which is provided with phonographic mechanism so that it can be opened by the voice of the owner. A mouthpiece like that of a telephone takes the place of a knob on the door, and this is provided with the usual style of needle which travels in a groove in the sound record of the phonograph cylinder. Before the safe can be unlocked the password must be spoken into the cylinder by the one who made the original record.

ASK EXTRA SESSION. APPEAL TO DENEEN

GOVERNOR URGED TO CONVENE
LEGISLATURE TO INVESTIGATE
GATE MINE FIRE.

FLAMES GREATLY CHECKED

Chicago Firemen in Peril of Their Lives Recover Four More Bodies
from Cherry Shaft—Work of Rescue Takes Weeks.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 20.—While the work of taking out the bodies of several hundred dead miners from the St. Paul mine is just beginning, an extraordinary session of the Illinois legislature to furnish relief and conduct an investigation into the horror. Representatives W. J. McGuire of Kewanee and W. J. Scanlon of Peru made the appeal to Gov. Deneen. A fund of $25,000 was suggested in the letter sent the governor and reasons given for the request that the legislature conduct an inquiry into the net. Frank D. Whipp is here as Deneen's personal representative. He is fiscal secretary of the Illinois administration commission. He will report to the governor, who is now in Nebraska, and upon his advice the special session may be called.

This unusual action requested while funds are coming in plentifully for the time and while the state mine inspectors, the state commission on mining conditions and the coronor's jury are beginning their investigations, is interpreted as meaning that back of the criticisms and suspicions current here, there is a truth so far practically hidden.

This new phase of the disaster is accompanied by the development of new horrors in the mine.

Now, mules and burning coal are mixed in the great piles that block the galleries. Collapse of the collings around the shafts have probably buried many of the miners. Others are supposed to be floating in the water that has half filled the third vein. Not for ten days can the great mass of mutilated and decomposed bodies be brought up. Three shifts of rescuers are at work in the shaft.

Long stretches of the galleries have caved in. The walls must be shored up as the workers proceed. Firemen fight their way foot by foot. The coal still smolders and fire continually breaks out in the old spots. It may burn for weeks and water must be poured on it night and day.

Four Bodies Recovered.

The four bodies brought up were proof that the horrors of the mine fire hadn't been guessed.

Care was taken to bring up the bodies quietly and to calm the relatives who identified them, but scenes of despair and grief were enacted that made the morbid sightseers shrink away ashamed of their intruding curiosity.

Scenes of affection and devotion were seen everywhere. None were more beautiful than that in the mine on the afternoon of the fire when the miners died by the score, herded to the death.

Kroll and his son Alfred, 16 years old, worked together in the mine. They were in the second vein. The bodies were found near the first shaft, just a few yards from the cage that might have taken them to the free air above.

Henry was found sitting close to the wall of the gallery. The boy was crouching beside him. He lay across his father's lap. His head was on his father's knees and the father's hands and arms were around head and face, burned to the bone but in death still protecting his boy from the gas and flames that killed them.

Women Are Horrified.

Women who have stormed the mine shaft demanding the bodies of the miners strank back in silent horror when they saw the condition of the human forms.

Little homes, now and furnished as well as their number means could afford, may be snatched from the widows and orphans. Death has struck 150 homes.

Most of them must leave Cherry, for Cherry doesn't need the work of all these widows and orphans in its daily life.

It is partly to meet the future condition that the call for the legislature is asked.

Fire Greatly Checked.

Balance and desperation have greatly checked the fire in the coal mine; men braved today the fire-swept tunnels to bring to the surface the dead; charity has poured aid into the homes of suffering survivors, but all of this could not subdue the grief of Cherry's inhabitants when the sight of the dead, lifted from the tomb added their hopes that men would

Save money—read advertisements.

Five bodies of the entombed have been recovered, four of them Friday and one Thursday night. Today, however, it is expected that many more of the dead will be recovered. More were found and explorers were forced to flee for their lives, as they were about to bring them out, when falling earth and rock endangered them.

Dead are identified.

The dead who were recovered were identified as Henry Kroll, 62 years old, and Alfred Kroll, 15 years old, father and son; George McMullen, 36, Charles Walto, aged 32, and Ollie Freilburg.

Thirteen Chicago firemen, commanded by Capt. Kennedy and Lieut. Smith, did the heavy work in making it possible to enter the mine.

Obstacles which threatened the lives of the fire fighters attended the work of recovering the bodies. At one time the men working in the second level were almost cut off from escape by a sudden falling of masses of earth and rock. They had placed two bodies on a stretcher and were ready to carry them to the cage in the hoisting shaft, when, with a series of loud reports a shower of debris came down.

"Drop the bodies and run for your lives," shouted the leader. "Get out or we'll all be buried alive down here."

To the danger of heavy rocks falling was added that of sparkling and crackling timber which fell in from all sides.

See Heap of Bodies.

The men were then about 250 feet in from the hoisting shaft. Further in they could see a great heap of bodies. These were those of men, boys and mules indiscriminately mixed, indicating that before they died the mules had been driven from the shaft by the heat and in the final struggle had tumbled over each other.

All this, viewed by the firemen in the light of the flickering torches and lamps presented a scene as weird as a picture from the inferno.

Leaving behind them the two bodies which they had struggled hard to reach, the fire fighters rushed to the hoisting shaft, where they were revived by the cooler air. They were quickly brought to the top.

The Illinois mine inspectors who have had charge of the attempt to subdue the fire and to effect an entrance into the mine were satisfied with the progress of the work. It was more successful than they had anticipated. All but three inspectors left for their homes, to remain within call should an emergency arise.

Pensions Are Suggested.

Pensions are suggested by many as the only means of providing for the widows of the dead miners.

If the appropriation of $25,000 is voted it is proposed to make it the nucleus of a fund to care for the families of the dead miners.

Contributions are greater than immediate needs and the surplus may be added to this proposed fund.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 20.—The American Federation of Labor at its convention here in addition to endorsing the attitude taken by President Compers in the Bucks Stove & Range Company injunction proceedings, voted to continue the salaries of Compers and Secretary Frank Morrison and to compensate Vice-President John Mitchell, who is not a married officer, during their terms of imprisonment in case it is eventually decided they must go to jail for contempt of court.

They will be paid at the rate of $5,000 a year.

Insane Man Leaps from Fire Escape Into Chicago Street.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—"Look out below! I'm coming." Goodby, overboard!"

Shouting this warning to those who might be beneath him, Hugh M. White, 39 years old, of Downer's Grove, Ill., leaped from a fire escape at the sixth floor of the Fair store into the alley on the Dearborn street side and was almost instantly killed.

His body turned several times in the descent and most of the bones were broken by the fall. It is believed he was temporarily insane.

C. E. HOST IN AGRA, INDIA

FOURTH WORLD'S CONVENTION OF ENDEAVORERS OPENS
AT AGRA.

PRESIDENT CLARK IS THERE

Largest Christian Gathering Ever Held in Mission Lands—Head of India C. E. U. Welcomes the Delegates—Clark Responds.

Agra, India, Nov. 20.—Delegates from all parts of the world were present here today when the fourth Christian Endeavor world's convention convened. Perhaps never before has such a picturesque body of religious workers been seen assembled under one roof. For the strange and often brilliant garb of the orientals formed a striking contrast to the sober and subdued dress of those hailing from the occident. A great camp, with two auditoriums, dining halls, and numerous living tents, has been set up near the Drummond road and the convention, it is declared, is the largest that ever assembled in a mission land.

Welcomed by India.

The first session was called to order at eight o'clock this morning by Rev. Herbert Anderson of Calcutta, president of the India Christian Endeavor union and a leader in mission and temperance work. After an invocation by Rev. Dr. W. A. Wilson of Indore, Mr. Anderson delivered the address of welcome to the delegates.

Rev. Herbert Anderson.

"The India Christian Endeavor union," said he, "welcomes the world to Agra—that is, the Endeavor world, representatives of our brothers and sisters in all lands serving Christ in the activities of our growing movement. (We might have asked you to India's old mogul capital, glorious Delhi; to Bombay, that picturesque city of noble architecture; to proud Calcutta, to Madras, benighted, they say, but beautiful withal. But the gracious charm of Agra bewitched us, and in the white enchantment of her oriental glamor, through the kindness of her Christian residents, we welcome you to her beauty which is beyond compare.

"We welcome you to meetings that will not be of historic interest alone, but of prophetic interest. To behold vision there is a movement hidden, vague, but progressive—a movement of millions from darkness to light. We are not blind optimists, but Asia is longing for Christ, feeling after him to find him, and the thrill of an awakening church is God's answer to that longing. Our meetings will make our movement's motto more real to us than ever, 'For Christ and the Church.'"

Greetings were extended also by W. H. Cobb, chairman of the local general committee; J. P. Cottingham, vice-president India C. E. U.; Rev. L. T. Ah Soo, Maulmain, Burma, and Rev. S. V. Karimkhar, Bombay.

President Francis E. Clark Responds.

When Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark, founder of the society and president of the world's union, arose to respond to the welcoming speeches, he was greeted with a storm of cheers and the waving of handkerchiefs. He needed no introduction, for in promoting the work of the society he and Mrs. Clark have made repeated journeys around the world, and are known and loved wherever the organization has a foothold. Dr. Clark's address was eloquent and full of enthusiasm, and he predicted that this convention would be one of the most influential ever held by the society. He was followed by representatives of the various countries which have sent delegations.

At 12:30 o'clock Dr. Clifford, bishop of Lycknow, presided over a meeting which was addressed by Dr. S. K. Datta of Lahore and Dr. J. A. Graham of Kallimpong. At the same time a meeting conducted in Hindustani was held in the other auditorium. This duplication of sessions will be kept up during the convention.

Golden Text.—He said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee; for my strength is made perfect in weakness. II Cor. xii:9.

Verse 21.—Do you know any person in all history who had a better right to boldly tell of his sufferings than Paul?

Verses 22-23.—Is there any lack of modesty, or good taste, in Paul, or any other true man, giving a full account of his qualifications and his sufferings for Christ's cause?

What advantage is it to be born of good stock?

What advantage was it to Paul that he was a Hebrew, an Israelite, and of the seed of Abraham?

Is there any higher privilege, or greater honor than to have labored and suffered, for the cause of Christ, which is the cause of humanity?

Does a true ministry, then and now, always imply much suffering and self denial?

Verses 24-27.—What is the best word picture you can give, of the noble hero who, at the expense of life-long and unparalleled suffering, gave himself up to the service of others? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Read until the story of this bitter and prolonged suffering is burned into your memory, and then read the story of Paul's great work and of the wonderful love and grace of God to him, and then think of the sumptuous lives of the chief priests who were, in great measure, responsible for Paul's suffering, and then say, after all, which got the more aggregate joy out of life, Paul or they?

How many of these cruel sufferings, to which Paul here refers, are mentioned elsewhere in the New Testament? Give chapter and verse. (See Acts ix:24-25; xiv:19; xvi:22 et seq.)

Verses 28-33.—Is Paul an exception, or is it the duty of all of us to have a great care for all the churches, and to be in sympathy with everybody, weeping with those who weep, and rejoicing with those who rejoice?

Which is the greater man, the one who excels in education, in science, in oratory, in statesmanship; or the one who excels in his love for the churches, for the poor, for sinners and in a heart that sympathizes with all mankind?

Chapter xii:6.—What is the logical or scientific value of Paul's experience of heaven?

What is the only real proof of God, of immortality and of the wisdom of the spiritual life?

Is it probable, or possible, that persons today may have similar experience of the unseen world as Paul?

Verses 7-10.—What was Paul's "thorn in the flesh?"

What is the greatest "thorn in the flesh" that strong and healthy spiritual men have today?

On the wall in the immediate rear of the collector of the port's desk in the custom house in Savannah are three electric push buttons, placed there 15 years ago for the convenience of the collector in calling his assistants at the other end of the building. ## Come With Us to Our Wyoming Irrigated Land

Richest of Soil—Most Perfect Irrigation System with Perpetual Water Rights—Home Markets—Delightful.
Healthful Climate—Good Transportation Facilities

Only $40 to $60 per Acre—on Easy Terms

In Laramie County, Wyoming, on the Colorado & Southern Ry., there is a tract of perfectly irrigated land, containing thousands of acres. On this strip a few people are going to grow rich within the next few years. Perhaps you wish to be one of these. Come with us on our next excursion for an investigation.

You will find (in full operation) one of the best irrigation systems in the United States—three simple reservoirs, flood-gates and flood-gates of heavy structural iron; set in solid, outstone masonry. You'll find good schools, churches, telephone and other like advantages. You will find land that produces these

Crop Yields

50 bu. wheat per acre; 150 to 300 bu. potatoes per acre; 12 to 30 tons of sugar beets per acre;

40 to 80 bu. of oats per acre; 40 to 60 bu. of barley per acre; 30 to 50 bu. of rye per acre, and 3 to 7 tons of alfalfa per acre.

Live Stock Advantages

You can run your stock on the U. S. Government land (adjoining these lands) and bring them in and finish for market on Alfalfa and grains grown on your irrigated land. No other irrigation system that we know of offers you so good a chance to "double up" your profits.

These lands are located 100 miles north of Cheyenne, Wyoming, and 150 miles from the famous Greeley Country, the soil being exactly the same, and our land will produce larger and better crops; and, remember, our price is only one-third what land is selling for in this older section.

Send for Free Booklet—Join Next Excursion

We want you to see this land before you invest a dollar elsewhere. We are sure of our proposition or we wouldn't ask you to go out there. We know that this is opportunity for you, be your own owner, tenant or young man starting in life. Write for free, illustrated booklet, containing map and all information.

San Francisco, Cal.—Lee Powell and Ad Wolgast are rounding into form for their bout before the Madison club November 23. The winner of this battle will be in line to challenge Nelson for the crown.

Powell is looked upon as the best lightweight that San Francisco has produced since the days of Jimmy Britt. The rise of the suburn-hulled lad was slow, but none the less sure. He plugged along here in the lower ranks for a good many years, beating all his opponents, but only on points. He seemed to lack that dash and spirit that goes with the making of the champions, and for this reason he was not much sought after by the promoters who were in the habit of flitting with stars.

However, Powell got off to a good start a few months ago by pouncing Ernie of Philadelphia all over the ring for 20 rounds. The very next month he came back and knocked the reputed tough Chick Hudson out in five rounds. A few weeks later he went across the bay and finished Kid Harrison in two rounds. By this time they were all up and looking at Powell and he was right in line for better things.

However, the best victory he ever added to his string was the one last Friday night, when he flattened Johnny Frayne in eight rounds. Frayne was looked upon by many as Powell's master and he even got more money by losing than Powell did by winning. Nobody figured Powell to finish the clever Californian inside of 10 rounds, yet he did it and in a very clever way. Most of them think that Frayne willingly quit, but still it must not be forgotten that Powell made a show of him from the outset.

Wolgast gained all of his fame by getting one of those "10 round" decisions over Battling Nelson in Los Angeles last July. Up to that time the little German from Milwaukee was not looked upon as a serious contender in the ranks of the lightweights, but like many another he leaped into fame in one night and has held his place ever since.

It goes without saying that the winner of the Powell-Wolgast mill will be pitted against Nelson for the lightweight championship of the world. There are about the only ones left, as all the custom experts will admit that Packer McFarland is no longer a lightweight, but a member of the welterweight division, and will soon be classed as a welter.

"Never mind," she said to him, "go ahead anyway; we must win," but Baldwin who never carries a life preserver, in order to save carrying extra weight would not take the chance with her, and at Adelphi and Fifty-eighth street he came to the ground.

In the meantime the other balloon, with Mars and Miss Miller had gone steadily west until it was over the water of the bay. Mars went as high as 9,000 feet to find a wind that would keep him from going to the dangerous west. He sailed only a few feet from the surface of the water thinking that he would find the proper breeze there. For a time it was thought that the balloon had fallen into the bay, so close to the water was it. At last when only a few hundred yards from the San Francisco shore, Mars was carried back to Oakland. Then finding that there was no wind at all he came down. Friends seized his rope and he dangled into the water near the Key Route pier and walking along the Thirty-Eighth street viaduct carried the balloon ashore.

Miss Miller was highly elated over her feat tonight, and she was made the guest of honor at a large banquet at a local cafe.

"I enjoyed every minute of it," she said. "I was not nervous and I was not afraid at any time I wish my father would buy me a balloon. It is the greatest sport of all to sail in the air."

Wants Autos to Fight Fire.

Chief Wagner of Washington's fire department, is agitating for automobile fire-fighting apparatus, and has officially recommended it to the commissioners of the District of Columbia. Chief Wagner reports that in Springfield, Mass., one automobile engine was operated from July 19 to August 14, in which time it responded to 47 alarms, traveled nearly 240 miles and cost the department for that time only $11.41. He holds that this is a conclusive argument in favor of the motor vehicle as against the picturesque, but slower, horse-drawn engine.

Body Also Needs Education.

The body requires education in proper exercise to keep its parts in harmony and perfect adjustment. To have a body, to think well, stomach, heart and liver must be performing their functional actions. To have a wholesome soul you must have a right thinking mind, for it is the impress of the mind that stamps the soul with an everlasting seal.

The Growth of Genius.

The man who succeeds above his fellows is the one who, early in life, clearly discerns his object and toward that object habitually directs his powers. Even genius itself is but fine observation strengthened by fixity of purpose. Every man who observes vigilantly and resolves steadfastly grows unconsciously into genius.—Hulwer Lytton.

REAL SOCIETY "HIGH FLYERS."
Miss Margaret Miller at left; Miss Geneva Shaffer at right.

Oakland, Cal.—Miss Margaret Miller and Miss Geneva Shaffer have given coast society circles a genuine thrill. The usual publicity medium of the diverse coast, the automobile wreck and big losses at the gaming table were too tame for these brave western maids. They sought for the novel in life and they found it. Coming up in a balloon is not a new feat of daring women but a wild race in the clouds is a decided diversion. Always rivals for honors in social circles the two girls entered into the contest with unusual vim and no little feeling.

Miss Miller won, as the balloon in which she was went farther than the Queen of the Pacific. Distance was the condition of the race.

The race was held under the auspices of the Oakland Aero club and was a contest between the City of Oakland sailed by J. C. Mars of that club, and the Queen of the Pacific of the San Francisco Aero club. A cup was the trophy raced for. The Queen of the Pacific was compelled to come to the ground before reaching the waters of the bay. The City of Oakland sailed over the water nearly reached San Francisco and being borne back by a west wind landed finally near the Key Route pier at the foot of B. street in West Oakland.

The Queen of the Pacific had 10 minutes start of its rival but the wind was so slight that it did not get far away. Ivy Baldwin, who accompanied the girl, let out ballast until the balloon was nearly 1,000 feet in the air. A light wind from the east then struck it and it drifted towards the bay. The other balloon had the same experience.

Both aeromats tried repeatedly to find different air currents, but without success. They raised and lowered their balloons again and again in the hope of finding a proper wind that would carry them inland. They could not and they drifted slowly toward the bay.

Near the shore Baldwin decided that he would not risk the life of Miss Shaffer over the water, inasmuch as he had not taken life preservers with him.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

LEAVE your sex at home.

That's my most heartfelt and emphatic advice to the woman who is going into business life of any kind.

To be able to meet men without any feelings of sex is as great an asset as brains for a business woman.

If a girl can go into a business office and look upon the men there not as men—creatures to be fascinated and interested, to be posed before and made to entertain her—but simply and solely as co-workers, she stands a mighty good chance for business success.

"Why didn't you keep Miss B.? I thought she was a very capable girl." I asked a man who had recently disappeared with the services of a stenographer whom I knew to be a very talented girl.

"Because everybody," he answered, "was always plying up her headstrong, if he had to."

And then in fuller explanation—"Yes, she was a clever woman, a good stenographer, and an exceptionally wanted, but over and above that she was always a woman and she wouldn't let anybody in the office forget it for a moment. Some one was always picking up her handkerchief or bringing her a glass of water or opening a window or doing some little thing for her."

"It wasn't the things themselves. She's a mighty pretty girl and a nice one and if I were to meet her at a dinner or dance I'd probably like her better than to do anything else wanted, and I'm sure most of my clerks wouldn't, but my office isn't a drawing-room or a dance hall. It wasn't the things themselves, either. It was simply the unbusinesslike atmosphere she created."

Someone is going to protest that I want business to be conducted like machinery, that I am asking women to be and to look upon the men about them as a thing but the wheels and cogs and bolts in a big machine instead of as human beings.

I am not. I am not advising women to leave their personalities at home, only the sex part of them.

A crowd of men in an office together are not just cogs and wheels and bolts. They are friendly co-workers. In so far as they possibly can business women should be the same—no more, no less.

Not every woman is able to do this.

There are a great many women so oversexed that they simply cannot forget their sex for a moment.

If you are that kind, get married, embroider, paint china or take in washing, but don't go into a business office.

But if you are capable of being impersonal enough to separate the man and woman end of life during business hours, go ahead, and success to you.

And if you make up your mind that while you are doing it you are going to think so hard of your work that everything else will be secondary, your relations to your co-workers will need no studying but will be perfectly simple and natural.

BALLINGER DENIES CHARGE OF GRAFT

Secretary Asserts He Has Never Lent His Support to Perpetrate a Fraud.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Secretary Ballinger of the interior department took occasion to deny many of the charges which recently have been circulated concerning the conduct of his department, and to explain others.

"To say that I ever have advised, ordered or lent support to any effort to perpetrate a fraud upon the government," he said, "is not only false, but is intentionally so, it made by any one who has taken the trouble to inquire into the facts."

In explanation of the charges in connection with the Alaska coal lands, he went into the history of President Roosevelt's withdrawal from entry of all the coal land of Alaska in 1906, showing that the order was so modified by Secretary Garfield as to validate all applications made prior to May 16, 1907.

Mr. Ballinger denounced as "a plain, ordinary falsification" a report that he is interested in 155,000 shares of the Alaska Petroleum and Coal Company.

Asked about a statement that he had said that the proper course to take with the public domain was to "divide it up among the big corporations and let the people who know how to make money out of it," Mr. Ballinger replied:

"So asking a statement hardly merits a denial. Of course, I made no such statement."

VICTORY FOR IRELAND ASSURED.

Redmond Declares Present Is Opponent to Cast Off Yoke.

New York, Nov. 20.—John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalists in the British house of commons, has sent a cablegram to T. P. O'Connor, who is here in the interest of the Irish home rule cause, declaring that the greatest constitutional struggle in England in the last two centuries had begun.

Mr. Redmond's cablegram says: "The die is cast. The greatest constitutional struggle in England for upward of 200 years has commenced. No such opportunity has been offered Ireland to strike for liberty since 1641. Moved for the declaration of independence, if the Irish Nationalists abroad and at home act unitedly in this supreme hour a glorious victory is assured."

Would Improve Training School.

URGES ERECTION OF 'FORTRESS.'

President Says It Is Necessary to Repeal Foes.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 20.—To build an impregnable fortress at Hampton Roads, the greatest naval base in the world, was the declared purpose of President Taft in an address here. He furthermore said that by the time his administration ends the most powerful guns in the world will be ready for foes that may attempt to enter Hampton Roads.

NEW ROAD TALKED

OF TO THE NORTH
BY NEW COMPANYThe Chicago-Wisconsin Valley Railroad has been incorporated to build Road North from Janesville.Among the recent incorporations of electric railroads is that of the Chicago-Wisconsin Valley railroad which has been formed to build an electric road from Janesville to Merrill, Wisconsin. The officers named are:
President, E. G. Frost, of Stevens Point; general manager, Allen Russell of Burlington, Maryland.The Appleton Daily Post of the 17th has the following story on the same proposition, and it indicates that Janesville is to be one of the proposed termini, rather than stations on the road to Chicago, the road being run in connection with the Rockford turban company south from this city. It is reported:A new interurban project, with Appleton as one of the termini and Janesville and New London, two of the Outagamie county points to be on the route, will be placed before the business interests of Appleton in the near future. A. D. Barnes of Wau-paca, vice president of the Chicago
and Wisconsin Valley Railroad company, was in the city this morning and to a representative of The Post outlined an interurban possibility that will be presented for the consideration of local and Outagamie county business interests.The proposition is to construct an interurban line from a point about eleven miles west of Hancock, Wau-paca county, to Waupaca, New London, Hortonville and Appleton, this line, which will be a branch line to the main interurban line of the Chicago and Wisconsin Valley railroad extending from Stevens Point almost directly south to Chicago. The southern portion of the latter company's line, extending from Chicago to Janesville, is already in operation, and surveys are now on the ground looking up the right of way from Janesville to Stevens Point.
The line will touch Madison, Portage, Friendship and Grand Rapids, among other places, and will be a direct route from central Wisconsin points to Chicago.Mr. Barnes declares that all that will be necessary to secure the line proposed will be to show the bonding company behind the Chicago and Wisconsin Valley railroad, the Chicago, Aurora and Elkhart road, and the Rockford and Janesville line, which is one and the same company, that the necessary business is here to provide support the project, and the money will be assured.When asked what would be necessary on the part of Appleton and Outagamie county people in order to get the project underway, Mr. Barnes stated:"Nothing will have to be done except to display sufficient interest to secure the backing of proper support by way of business patronage, and to grant right of way privileges. The bonding company back of the Southern Wisconsin and Illinois interurban railroads is willing to finance the road
proposed to be built from Waupaca county through Waupaca and Outa-gamie counties to Appleton, figuring that this line would be a splendid feeder to the main line from Stevens Point to Chicago, which project is entirely financed and which line from end to end will be in operation no later than September, 1911. That an enterprise will involve something like $4,000,000. The surveys are now at work not far south of Portage and are rushing the work with the utmost possible haste. The Stevens Point-Chicago line will carry both freight and passengers. The road will be equipped with the most modern and approved rolling stock and motive power and in every respect will be one of the best interurban lines in the country. The proposed line from Waupaca county to Appleton will probably be for passenger service
only, but it is planned to run a passenger and dining car on the Wisconsin valley road, those to be taken on at Merrill. In that event it will be possible for Appleton people to take an interurban out of this city in the afternoon and at Hancock enter a sleeper on the main line, sleep all night and wake up in Chicago the following morning.""There has long been talk of the need of an interurban road running north from Appleton, touching Hortonville and other villages and penetrating the most thickly populated sections of Outagamie county northwest of this city. Waupaca county people are enthusiastic over the proposition and there is no doubt but that Appleton interests will at once take up the matter with Mr. Barnes and bring the project to a successful conclusion at the earliest possible date. As the case stands now, this county or city will not be asked for concessions of any kind except for the granting of right of way privileges, and no stock
will necessarily be sold here. Mr.
Barnes will return today to Waupaca and expects to again visit Appleton in the near future with a view to calling upon those who feel interested in the proposed deal and for the purpose of consulting with the officers of the Appleton Merchants' association, which organization no doubt will at once interest itself in the matter."ARTICLE WRITTEN FAVORING CHANGEWriter Signing His Name as "Progress" Desires Space to Discuss the Rule of Cities by Commission.Janesville, Wis., Nov. 19, 1909.
Editor of the Gazette:
Dear Sir: Permit me to compliment you for the time and ability that you have so ably devoted to the commission. "City Government by Commission."The commission system of government is of too much importance to command or condemn without giving the subject much thought and careful consideration.It is a subject that should be discussed without prejudice, free from personal feeling or party politics. It is a business proposition and should be considered purely from a business standpoint.The writer is a taxpayer, does not hold an office under the present system, neither will he solicit an office
under the commission plan if adopted.
My sole purpose in writing this article is to throw a little light, if I can,
on a subject that is worthy the attention of every citizen of our city.I do not wish to throw any clubs at our present council; as a rule they are doing the best they can under the present system. (If it may be called a system.)They no doubt are making the race
in as fast a time as one could expect,
when you consider the hurdles they have to jump and the extra weight they have to carry in the way of perpetual perplexities that attend their never-ending duties, and the time that they can devote to the same without neglecting their own business.When I observe that the city of Janesville has a population of about 15,000 with an assessment of $10,200,
000, with a true value of the assessed property at nearly $14,000,000. With intangible property such as money, bonds, notes and mortgages, including public buildings that are owned by the city would no doubt make a grand total of $20,000,000.When I think of the various departments of the municipal corporation of the city of Janesville and the enormous proportions to which they have grown.When I consider the complex duties that a city father is called upon to perform, the expert skill necessary to perform the same well, the short time that he has at his command to devote to it, I am ready and willing to throw the veil of charity over many of their shortcomings. I often wonder that they do as well as they do under present conditions with the lack of skill and expert knowledge in many cases to perform the same.If this article does not find its way to the waste basket I shall follow it with another showing the need of expert service in municipal corporations.Yours for City Government by Commission.

MALTRESS NAMED AS

THE OIL INSPECTOR

Edgerton Man Succeeds Charles Conrad, Resigned, for the Oil Inspec-torship of the County.

As a result of the recent examination for oil inspector for Rock county to fill the office made vacant by the resignation of Charles Conrad who has for many years held the office, Royall C. Maltress, former sheriff and a resident of Edgerton, was today named to fill the vacancy. Edward L. Tracy, state supervisor of inspectors of illuminating oils signing
his appointment this morning. Mr.
Maltress' name was one of three that passed the recent tests held at the high school in this city and to Mr.
Tracy to select from. His appointment will be very pleasing to his many friends throughout the county and particularly to the citizens of Edgerton where he has long made his home. He will assume the duties of his office at once.

HER GREAT SECRET

WAS POPULAR PLAY

Crowded House Greeted Production of

Maxwell-Hall Stock Company

Last Night.

An interesting drama, "Her Great Secret," was presented last evening at the Myers theatre by the Maxwell-Hall company before a very large audience. The heroine is a woman with a past, who after meeting with other names that of her first husband, whom she was accused of murdering, marries an American gentleman of means. A friend of General Burleigh meets her at the home, recognizes her and exposes her and she and her husband are separated. Through the death of her child and a plot to kill Burleigh, which she discovers, they are reconciled and all ends happily. Two sub-plots in connection with the main story make the play interesting and at times very comical.The opening feature of last night's entertainment was an illustration of how the actors make up for the performances. Several excellent specialty acts were introduced between acts,
but the great favorite and the one which keeps all guessing is Miss Edith May's mind-reading. The company closes its engagement here this even-

Epilepsy, Fits

"My son was cured of a very bad

case of epilepsy by Dr. Miles' Nerve

Nervine." MRS. D. BAKER,

Cleveland, Ohio.

"My little girl who was afflicted with St. Vitus' Dance is now entirely well, after taking Dr. Miles' Nerve only four months."

MRS. C. G. BENNETT, Alma, Mich.

These diseases have been cured in so many instances, that we do not think there is any longer any doubt that they are curable diseases.
Being nervous diseases they yield to the soothing and strengthening influence of

Dr. Miles' Nerve.

Though stubborn, persistent treatment is almost sure to effect a cure by restoring nervous energy.The first bottle will benefit. If not, your druggist will return your money.Evening subject—"Reasons Why I Am a Christian." The morning sermon will deal with the interests, convictions and ideals of the Christian minister; and is intended to set forth

those in their bearing upon the ministry now begun in this church. The evening service will set forth some more personal phases of the new question of life. Illustrative of his own Christian experience, and in so far may be of special value to the young people.WATCH CHAIN GIFT

AN ATHLETIC CLUBYoung People of Monroe Business College Plan to Take Active Part in Athletics.Monroe, Wis., Nov. 20.—The student body of the Monroe Business Institute has organized an Athletic club.
The object of the club is to induce in different games usually found in a school, and one or two new ones may possibly be introduced. A basketball team has been organized, practice begun, and a schedule of games is being arranged. A number of strong athletes have joined and with such good material in their club good results are looked for. The following officers have been elected: President, Mr.
Pomroy of Lancaster; 1st vice president, Harry Nathan of Lancaster; 2nd vice president, R. E. Huppert of
